In Port.

The steamer Miowera took another move yesterday morning, and helped herself off the coral reef which has been her berth for forty odd days.

Capt. Metcalfe is to be congratulated upon his success.

The steamer was towed into port by the steamers Mikahala, and C. R. Bishop and the tug Eleu. The steamer is anchored in the stream, near the Can Buoy.

A SCARE.

For some times the great heroes who draw $40 a month for listening to Soper's commands have felt at ease and no reports have reached us of any instances of an unusual palpitation of their hearts. No shadows have been fired at, and the trees, and telephone posts have not lately been perforated with bullets. Yesterday though the camp was again thrown into a state of unspeakable anguish and they had good cause. Three gentlemen who are to take part in the coming minstrel show entered the music Hall yesterday afternoon to inspect the stage. After they had been inside a few minutes, a violent knocking at the front door startled them. They opened the door and found to their surprise a squad of police, and a captain who demanded to know what they were doing there. The trembling minstrels among whom was a government official explained their business—evidently to the satisfaction of the police—and none of them were arrested or killed that time. In the camp it was evident that there was a great commotion and soldiers, and officers were seen running to and fro in a state of excitement. Next time the minstrels visit the Opera House, they will take one or two colonels with them as a safe guard. But if three minstrels without blackened faces can throw a company of soldiers and the "foorce" into terror what cannot fourteen of them do after having used the "cork?"

Mixed Drinks.

Some of our young lady friends object to us giving prescriptions only for "saloon" drinks, and we will there fore to-day suggest a most pleasant refreshment very suitable after an afternoon drive to Waikiki with the best fellow. A well stocked side board is of course a necessity, but Seaborn Luce will attend to that upon the slightest request—and cash). The following is the way in which to prepare (for two) the famous

Afternoon Coffee Punch.

Into a large mixing tumbler place two fresh eggs, a tablespoonful of sugar, one third of the bulk of fine brandy, one dash of blackberry brandy, two dashes of portwine, one dash of maraschino, two dashes of creme de moca, two ponies of cream (milk will do.) Fill with ice, shake it exceedingly well and strain into two fancy glasses and imbibe! If that doesn't bring the fellow to the "popping" point he must be a snow-man.

At the meeting of the Portuguese last Saturday at Mr. Dillingham's house at Punahou very little of interest transpired we are informed. The Portuguese were encouraged to stand united and all work in the same direction for the benefit of the Reform Party. Our informant states that no explanation was given in regard to the dismissal of Portuguese and the employment of Japs by the Oahu Railroad Company. He said he would rather hear something about that move than about Mr. Dillingham's politics.

The Maui Annexation Club.

To night the Maui Annexation Club which so far has carried on a very precarious existence holds a meeting at the Court House in Wailuku, at which it is hoped that Deputy-Collector F. Mac-Stockner, who is on Maui, presumably on business will be able to infuse new life in the dying organization. It is also hoped that he will be able to infuse new "dollars" into the club so as to enable this "wealthy" and "intelligent" organization to pay the poor Chinaman who catered for the supper at the annexation ball on the 4th of July in the Wailuku Skating Rink. The members of the Club, we are informed, claim that there were ample funds subscribed to cover all expenses, and the Committee claim that all the money was expended, but show no subscription list or vouchers. There are other bills in connection with this same ball which are still unpaid so it is hoped that Mr. McStockner will be able to devise some means where with all claims can be satisfied besides recommending John Kalua to a government job. Poor John, by the way, is too well known to our rulers to be taken into consideration even if the Star does plead for him.

OPIUM.

200 tins of opium, we are informed, were landed from the Australia last week. By the way since the P. O. A. is writing about opium couldn't it explain a little about the transformation of opium into bricks, straw ect., etc., which took place while those lights of the reform party, Soper and Turrill were respectively Marshal and Port Surveyor, we should also like to hear something about the dope brought down by the "holy" ship which carried the five great commissioners to the United States? Why not tell us everything Mr. Advertiser man, while you are about it instead of only remembering instances "outside" of the Reform Party.
